DISCOURSE ON THE EMERGING URBAN PLANNING SOLUTIONS POST COVID-19

COVID-19 pandemic has significantly altered urban life, restricted human movement, the fate of millions of entrepreneurs is up in air. The discourse focus on the plethora of facets of urban planning, preparedness and post pandemic challenges for policy makers, urban planners in terms of density, housing, public spaces, green and blue spaces, inculcating the industry innovation, infrastructure and sustainable cities and communities. This is a time to re-think and re-invent measures for promoting active transportation for all the emerging cities and facilitate adequate infrastructure in terms of network accessibility and making the system more inclusive by reviewing building byelaws and Development Control Regulations.
